Style tile

Inspiration from Pop Character style.

Contour line:

Even though contour line is common in pop character style, it's not going to be used in designed characters

Shapes

The shapes are softly connectet with each other and distinguished by virety of shemes and contrasting colours. Pictures consist of organic shapes.

Typography:

As a typografy related to Pop Character style I have chosen Gageu Regular:

ABCDEFGHIJKLM
nopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890

Colours:

There are many colour shemes to be seen on in the pictures. Many of them are contrastinc with each others. They also include some humorous details.

"Pop Character has a more Disney-like look. There is a contour line and big eyes with pupils."

Example of the style:

#BC427D

#5EBD91

#DBB247

#603813

#F2F2F2

Story, genre and message

Story

There are two equally important characters in the story- donut Dankey and coffee Cuppy.

Dankey is a good looking guy who always has lots of people around him. He's always in the center of attention. His nice outfits, sociability and very sarcastic sense of humour always bring him many people around.

However, since he is very expressive guy, he is also known for being very impulsive and rather doing then thinking.

Cuppy, on the other hand, is the nicest guy you could possibly meet. He trusts people and believes in their truthfulness, what not once not twice brought him a lot of trouble. Normally he is quite boring, but has moments when he's really playful and maybe even a little bit childish. And that was in the exact moment when he met Dankey.

Having one of his moments of pure joy and happiness, coffee Cuppy came up to donut Dankey because he really wanted to play with someone. However, he chose a bad very bad moment for Dankey, because he was just taking his afternoon nap. Not thinking too much, Cuppy bowed down on his knees trying to reach Dankey with his hands. Dankey heard some noises around him so he slowly started to open his eyes not knowing what is happening around him. Before Cuppy realized, a big drop of coffee from the top of his cup dropped down straight on Dankey's head. Dankey woke up suddenly with feeling of anger (what he was pretty sure about) he had never felt before. Blind with guilt written all over Cuppy's face, not thinking too much, he opened his mouth and bit off a big piece from the bottom of Cuppy's cup and stood still looking how the rest of the coffee is pouring out of the green Cuppy lying down on the ground.

Message

Not everybody is the same as us so we should think a lot before we do something because we can never predict someone's reaction or be aware of doing stupid things when you only think about your own
